Detailed Assessment Task Description

Question one 15 marks

Complete the table( see attached). For each of the people in the table below, state the type of employment, full time, part time or casual, that would best suit each one. For each person list ONE advantage and ONE disadvantage of the type of work selected.

Person A Single person who likes to travel

Person B Married person with a mortgage, no children

Person C Single parent with young children

Person D Married person with teen age children

Person E person over 65 who is not ready to retire

Question two 20 marks

There have been many changes to work patterns in recent years. Select ONE change and (a) clearly name and describe the change to work patterns you selected

(b) In 3 to 4 paragraphs (300 to 400 words) assess how it is affecting, or might affect people/workers. Consider the advantages/disadvantages it might have. You must provide detailed information about the potential impacts of the change and you must include more than one impact in your answer.

Patterns you could select include

Working from home

gender gap

remote work

house husbands, the rise of electing to raise children rather than work, how does this impact the workplace

Question Three 25 marks

Find a recent media article about one of the following issues in Australia:

- (a) Youth unemployment
- (b) Long term unemployment
- (c) Underemployment

Your article must have been published in the last three years, since 2020.

You must do the following:

- (1) Outline the main points of the articles (100 words)
- (2) What are the main implications of the article for the individual worker (200 words)
- (3) What are the implications of the article for society as a whole, for example, how does the issue(s) in the article affect the economy, families, people in the community? (200 words)

The implications for the individual and society might not be included in the article. You might need to research these independently.
